

SPEAKERS FOR CLUB WOMEN AT WHITE HOUSE AND AT MASS MEETING IN PUBLIC LIBRARY.

DEMAND WILSON CHANGE HIS MIND

charge that there was a packed convention—all the delegates were regularly elected by their respective organizations and there were no contesting delegations. In reply to the charge of gag rule—the question was open for discussion and no voice was raised against it. The previous question was then called for and carried by two-thirds vote. The G. F. W. C. of America, representing over one million and indirect many millions, passed the resolution endorsing political equality for men and women, and it was passed by the women of the north, south, east and west, by the united womanhood of the nation, standing for the great principle of inalienable God-given right—equality.

Held to Be Fitting Time.

"The women over the sea are holding out their hands to us. Eight million working women have their eyes on the result of this resolution today. Suffrage is the duty of woman. It is her patriotism to safeguard her womanhood and demonstrate in unmistakable terms that the women of the country are looking to Congress to pass this amendment before the session adjourns. Mr. President, on the eve of the Fourth of July, when the Declaration of our fathers still rings its jubilant note around the world—what more fitting hour and time for our President to give his daughters—give his voice and influence to our cause."

Mrs. Dorr's Address.

The political speech of the delegation was made by Mrs. Dorr, who said in part: "We are well aware that you are the busiest of men, and we have no desire to claim more of your time than is necessary to state for a change. I shall therefore, go directly to the point and tell you that our reason for calling on you today is to ask if you will not use your powerful influence with Congress to have the Bristow-Mondell woman suffrage amendment passed in this session. On former occasions when we came to you on this business you told us that you could do nothing for us because you were committed to a restricted program defined by the democratic platform, and that you were determined never to initiate any initiative legislation until the party had given you its instructions. Since our last visit to the White House you have changed that position. You have initiated and carried through Congress an extremely important piece of legislation without waiting for party instruction. In fact, you carried it through in the face of positive instructions to the contrary written in the platform on which you were elected. You did this because you deemed it the wise and the right thing to do, and you had the courage to act according to your conscience and your convictions.

Situation Has Changed.

"In the matter of the legislation to which I have referred, your justification rested on the fact that a certain situation had changed, and a changed situation called for a changed policy. We submit that the situation in regard to woman suffrage has changed absolutely since the Baltimore platform was written. In 1911 women were not in only four states of the Union, and those were not very populous states. Since 1911 five more states have entered the Union, and have given their women the full suffrage, and one more state—the great state of Illinois—has given its women a very important measure of suffrage. In the coming November the voters of no less than 15 States will pass on woman suffrage amendments. "Nearly four million women are voting this year. That the most powerful body of women in the country, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, should have adopted the resolution presented to you today is symbolic of the great change that has taken place in the suffrage situation since 1911.

"The fact, also, that we have in Congress a bill to write into the Constitution of the United States an amendment forever eliminating the sex barrier to citizenship in this republic is strongly indicative of the change that has taken place.

"Our immediate request is that you see to it that the rules committee of the House of Representatives makes a favorable report on the resolution now before it, allotting time for the consideration of the suffrage amendment in the House during this session."

New Jersey Women's Resolution.

The resolution of the Woman's Political Union of New Jersey, which was signed by Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, stated:

"We look to you as our nation's chief executive, endowed by virtue of your superior office with powerful influence which you can bring to bear upon the members of the rules committee, who have the woman suffrage question in charge.

"We therefore, respectfully ask that you bring to bear pressure upon the rules committee, urging said committee to allot time for the consideration of suffrage in the House."

More Funds Needed for Statue.

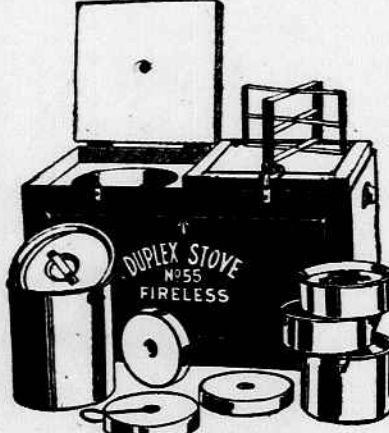

The final meeting of the Pocahontas Memorial Association this summer will be held at the Hotel Bellevue, Thursday at 4:30 p.m. The work of raising funds for the statue of Pocahontas to be erected on Jamestown Island will be resumed in the fall, since $3,000 more is needed. The winter's work will be started in an "experience meeting" on the first Thursday in October, at which contributions to the statue fund will be accepted from members, who will at the same time relate their experience in earning the money.

"Bugsworth."

From the London Chronicle.

Bugsworth has shed its horrid name and announced itself as Lymedale. But it will have a bit of bother over the statutory recognition. It is rather important to have your letters addressed rightly. And the post office will have a change of address (as a village) until either parliament by act has stepped in, or some other complicated procedure is accomplished. Bugsworth was a parish hundreds of years ago, and the postman is as conservative as the parish clerk.
